If you answered YES to any of these questions, we encourage you to read on!

The COMPASS technology can change the health and wellness status of your family forever, enabling everyone to stay balanced and healthy, less likely to get sick, and less likely to miss time from work and school.

Selecting the nutritional supplements your body prefers through this bio-communication technology not only increases your health, but decreases your costs because you will be purchasing the products your body wants.

This technology is testing your body on a chi level, which ultimately affects blood, body fluids and then the tissues. It can detect imbalances even before symptoms appear.

Here's How It Works

Zyto technology is used by thousands of doctors and healthcare providers nationwide to make decisions on the health care needs of their clients with 93% proven accuracy. Now that same technology is available at our natural health retail center, which we can easily use to accurately help you make decisions about your personal health and wellness program.

The COMPASS makes health assessments simple – all you have to do is place your hand on a small hand cradle, about the same size as a computer “mouse”. The hand cradle is the interface between your body and a computer, which sends digital signals to your body and measures your body’s responses. Your body’s energy field responds to over 400 million bits of information per second. Zyto’s technology is able to read and measure your body’s response to digital signatures which indicate your body’s preferences to help bring it back into a state of balance, and consequently, improved health.

The COMPASS measures 76 bio-markers in your body, then records the bio-frequency of each marker to determine what is out of range or out of balance. Next, it gives you a picture of your out of range bio-markers. When the COMPASS registers the imbalance, it looks for the exact supplements that bring every one of those bio-markers back into range or balance. Once those supplements have been calculated, the COMPASS then gives you a report on the supplements preferred by your body. The report will tell you which supplements bring a number of various markers back into range. Next the computer prepares a report which contains a brief description of each supplement.

By combining a wellness consultation along with the COMPASS assessment, we can assist our clients with a personalized program that will produce results! You can also request a stand-alone COMPASS scan for a quick reading of where your body is and what will help to bring it back into balance. No prior fasting or preparation is necessary and this equipment may be safely used for people of all ages, regardless of health condition.

TESTIMONIALS

“The Compass technology is truly amazing! If you want to have a better quality of life rather than feeling sick and tired all the time, like I did, you need to check out this new technology. It’s easy, fast and accurate with no prior preparation required, and it helps identify the root health issues your body needs to address. I brought my whole family to be tested after having my own assessment done. It has only been three weeks, but we have all seen improvements in our level of health.” -Compass client

“My son was diagnosed with ADHD and had trouble focusing at school and completing tasks. He showed some improvement with the supplements he was on, but when he did the COMPASS scan and went on the recommended program, we saw noticeable changes – and we hear from his teachers how much he has improved! He feels better too!” -Compass client

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How does the technology work?

Most of our daily activity is managed by an exchange of information that happens at a level below conscious awareness. Every second there are an estimated 400 million impulses of information processed by the body that we are not aware of. Our cells are built to communicate this information very effectively.

Using the hand cradle, Zyto “eavesdrops” on this energetic cellular communication. It’s done by monitoring the electrical changes in Galvanic Skin Response (GSR), the same technology used in equipment such as the polygraph test. Much like that, Zyto sends stimuli to the body and measures the response. Using proprietary algorithms, the technology is able to determine the body’s degree of positive or negatives responses for each item being assessed.

Are the results able to be reproduced?

Countless clients worldwide have experienced extraordinary results when using the information gathered from this Zyto technology. This question is asked very often, but because of what we are measuring, we don’t expect reproducibility. This scan measures the most rapidly changing field in the body—the energetic field which processes 400 million impulses of information per second. It is very much like dipping a cup in a very large and fast moving river. You can use the same size cup and pull liquid from the same place; however each consecutive dip is not going to contain the same water.

In Quantum Physics this is referred to as Quantum Indeterminacy. What this means is that by asking a question you actually change the subject itself, so that when asking the same question again, the subject will not give the same response. It’s similar to sitting in a quiet room and hearing a sudden loud noise—you’ll jump. However, if one minute later the same noise is repeated, your response will be quite different. The first stimulus changed you and therefore changed your response to the second identical stimulus. The body is wonderful at acclimating. This teaches us that the first result is always the best; therefore the first COMPASS test is most accurate and its recommendations should be followed for 1-3 months before re-scanning under most circumstances.

Is the scan safe for everyone?

This technology is safe for pacemakers, organ transplants, pregnant women or children. Food, exercise or jewelry does not affect the results.
